

Hello!

*This week in Math the students learned to use place value disks, partial products, and an area model to represent 2-digit, 3-digit, and 4-digit by 1-digit multiplication.

-Every student should complete xtramath.org at least 4 times every week. It is very important that the students learn their basic facts.

*What a fun week we have had in ELA. We have been spending a lot of time with our book clubs. We came up with an idea to debate from our book and found evidence to support our debating idea. This is a really important concept to develop and they are doing a good job with it. We are discovering that setting plays an important part in our book as well. Also that the way we see the setting comes often times from our life experiences. The students are getting really good at discussing their books with each other and me. Please make sure grammar is getting completed. We almost had 100% complete this week. Reading logs, the same thing, please.

*This week in Science we continued learning about fast changes to the Earth's surface. We completed a packet and paper.

*Social Studies, you have the project assignment a little over a week until that is due. Some have already turned it in. If/when it is finished feel free to have your child bring it in. We also started fighting some wars, The French and Indian War as well as discovering why there were colonies. A lot of fun stuff this week.

*As part of our giving back to the community, Madison Avenue is collecting NEW ADULT SOCKS for Sub Zero Mission for the rest of November. There are collection boxes in front of the office. For more information go to www.subzeromission.org.

*This is a great opportunity for your child to learn how (or continue) to ski or snowboard. My son did this last year through his school and loved it!!
