

Hi!

*This week in Math the students learned to find 1, 10, 100 thousand more or less than a given number and learned to round multi-digit numbers using a vertical number line. The vertical number line is a strategy that they can continue to use, and is recommended for some, but does not have to be used. Next week we will continue with rounding and rotate through centers to review for the Mid-Module Assessment on Lessons 1-10. The Mid-Module Assessment will be on Wednesday.

-Just a reminder that all math quizzes should be signed by a parent/guardian, corrected by your child, and returned to me.

*Thanks to those of you that sent in a sock or similar item for the whiteboards, we are saving on tissues. We have been digging into character and character trait with our new read-aloud book, THE TIGER RISING. The students are loving this book, both reading and talking about it. Each child has a copy of the book to read in school, thanks to the Morley Library. We are struggling some with getting our grammar completed by Thursday. There is plenty of time for students to work on it in class but if you could check with your child or look for the packet that may make a big difference. Reading logs are doing well. Remember 7 days to read 5 times for 20-30 minutes.

*This week in Science we finished our erosion wrap up and started weathering. We did an experiment called At the Beach and started another one called Ice Breakers. There will be a quiz next week on weathering and erosion. (The students will receive a study guide.)

*In Social Studies we worked on primary and secondary sources. We seem to be getting a grasp on them. We moved to The Constitution yesterday and will be working on that for several days.

*Next week there will be a district-wide Spirit Week! The Homecoming parade and community pep rally are Thursday, Sept. 27.
